Celebrating the culture and traditions of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, Jiga Jiga Paint is a proud Aboriginal paint company.

With a desire to create employment and business opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, support economic growth in remote and regional Indigenous communities, and celebrate song lines and traditional trade routes that our people followed across Country, Jiga Jiga was born from the passion of two leaders within the Aboriginal community, Bevan Mailman and Tom Hutcheson. The last piece of the puzzle was a meeting with the Haymes family who have been market leaders in paint manufacturing since 1935.

As the first Aboriginal owned paint company, Jiga Jiga Paint, embraces Caring for Country as traditional custodians, celebrates the connection paint has in storytelling, and looks to strengthen the spirit of reconciliation through building strong business relationships.

Supported by Haymes Paint, Australia's largest family owned and made paint company, Jiga Jiga Paint is an authentic Australian paint brand and aims to become a market leader and the largest paint supplier to Indigenous communities by working closely with and for the communities who have ancient connections to Country and have been painting for over 60,000 years.
